member of the superintending committee, one who attended to her duties with such a spirit of love that she won all hearts. She will be greatly missed in our work, for we were strengthened by her presence and cheered by her words of encouragement and counsel.

Her pleasant smile, her appreciation of her pleasant work, her unique wit, her whole-heartedness and devotion to the interests of our association.

Resolved, That while we bow in Christian submission to the providence of God, which has from us one so greatly loved and so highly useful, we will also tenderly remember her Christian character, though she has passed from us, her work and example abiding with us as a heritage of unspeakable worth.

Resolved, That we will earnestly seek to carry out the program of our organization so dear to her, and work to be more zealous, inasmuch we shall be more needed.

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family our tenderest sympathy, and that we resolve to place upon our records and copies furnished the Bangor daily papers for publication.

ORONO NEWS.

The last of the course of assemblies for the management of Spencer and occurred Thursday evening in Junior Hall, and was attended by a large crowd of pleasure seekers as usual. Excellent music was furnished by dancing and a general good time enjoyed.

Rev. C. E. Lund delivered his lecture on Labor Co-operation in London, and on Friday evening, to a large audience in the Universalist church in Bangor. The appreciation can be determined by the generous applause of the audience.

The Union social and supper at the Universalist church vestry, Thursday evening, was a very successful affair socially and financially and was aided by a very large crowd.

A woman who has mislaid her hat been known to look for it in her home, among other impossible places. Women realized that much of the critical treatment received from local attention was an effort only to lose the hat, and a search for it in unlikely places would place a higher value on the hat of a specialist like Dr. Pierce, who has more than half a million cures of women to prove his point.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Remedy for Women is invited to be used by all women who are afflicted with any of the diseases of the delicate system, as there is no medicine so sure as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Remedy.

BOERS MUST MEET A TREMENDOUS ASSAULT ON ENCOUNTERING EULLER.

BOERS ARE BUSILY ENGAGED IN MAKING STRONG DEFENSES.

Fate of Ladysmith Will Probably Be Sealed Only After Heavy Fighting—Latest News of the War in South Africa.

London, Jan. 20. 4.30 A. M. Every hour that Gen. Buller delays his combined attack makes his position stronger. Transports continue to arrive at Durban and fresh troops are being sent to the line to reinforce those in front of Colenso. It appears that Gen. Buller's troops north of the Tugela number at least 22,000 and possibly 25,000, with fifty guns. His total forces form a great outer curve south and west of Ladysmith and probably number forty thousand.

While Gen. Buller's forward operations, which began on Jan. 10, develop rather leisurely, the Boers appear to be fully aware that they must meet a strenuous assault. Balloon observers have roughly estimated that ten thousand Boers are using speed and pick in artificially strengthening positions which nature has rendered easy of defense.

Military circles in touch with the war office think that news that general Buller has begun may be expected at any hour. It is not thought that one day's fighting will settle the fate of Ladysmith, but rather that there will be two or three days of continuous fighting.

GERMAN BARK TAKEN.

Lourenzo Marques, Thursday, Jan. 19. The German bark Marie from Australia, with a cargo of flour for the Transvaal government, has been taken as a prize by the British third class cruiser Pelorus, near the island of Ilhaga, Delagoa bay, and has been sent to Durban with a prize crew on board.

AN ACTION OF PROTEST.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 19. An unpleasant misunderstanding has occurred in connection with the departure tomorrow of the Canadian South African volunteers. The difficulty is between Admiral Bedford, Gen. Lord Seymour and the public in general. Because the citizens are to be excluded from the shipyard (from which the ships sail) the mayor and aldermen returned the special tickets of admission which had been sent them. Their action is a protest against the proposed exclusion of the citizens. Four hundred men of the Leinster regiment have been notified by Gen. Seymour to be on hand to maintain order.

CAUTIOUSLY ADVANCING.

Spearmen's Camp, Friday, evening, Jan. 19. Sir Chas. Warren and Lord Dunsford are continuing a cautious advance, slightly expecting battle. There has been slight artillery firing here at Ladysmith and Chieveley.

Notes report that the kopjes are full of Boers.

NINETEEN MILES IN LENGTH.

London, Jan. 20. The Times has the following despatch, dated Thursday, from Spearmen's Camp, Jan. 17, via Ladysmith, Wednesday, Jan. 17, via Spearmen's Camp, Jan. 15. Everything quiet. The position is unchanged and there is very little bombardment.

The welcome sound of the guns of the relief column was heard yesterday from Colenso and Springfield.

The heat is intense, but there is no increase in sickness.

THE PASSAGE OF THE TUGELA.

London, Jan. 20. The Boer accounts of the passage of the Tugela river are given in the following two despatches from Commandant Viljoen's camp on the upper Tugela via Lourenza Marques, Jan. 18:

"Jan. 16—Buller's second move was a reconnaissance in force with an armoured train and a large body, supported by cannon, toward Colenso last night. A heavy bombardment ensued, and thereupon the British returned, having wounded one of our men."

"Two reports were received that the Boers were covering extensive movements on the river. Kaffirs on this side of the Tugela have been warned by the British to leave their kraals as the fight will commence shortly."

SMALL RIFLE ENCOUNTER.

The second despatch runs thus: "Jan. 17—The night was unbroken, save for slight rifle snipers between Kopjes, which led to nothing. At daybreak the enemy was located as before. He had not brought a single gun across the river. On the morning of the 17th, however, a unit of Boers opened on our position at the Kopjes."

THE MOLLINEX CASE STILL DRAGS ON.

The Mollinex case still drags on and will continue on Monday.

New York, Jan. 19. The unexpected happened today in the trial of Roland B. Mollinex for the murder of Mrs. Adams and the prosecution did not rest its case on the case as predicted by Assistant District Attorney Osborne yesterday. Court adjourned until Monday after the prosecution had gathered up the tag ends of the case.

15 RELEASED FROM PRISON.

Havens, Jan. 19. One hundred and fifty persons who had been imprisoned for excessive bail, or been held for a considerable time, awaiting trial, were released today. On emergency release they were granted by the court, and are now being held in the city.

no right to demand information from the President but the President was the absolute judge as to whether it was proper to communicate the information asked for. He utterly repudiated, he said, the doctrine advanced repeatedly by senators that the people were entitled to information from day to day regarding the conduct of our foreign business. It was perfectly manifest, he thought, that diplomacy to be successful must be secured; also that as to the status of foreign affairs, the secretary of state was the servant of the President and not of the Congress.

Mr. Spooner maintained that the President ought to have discretionary power about giving out information, as it was given not only to the American people, but to the world.

Mr. Allen held that the secretary of state could with perfect propriety be reached by such a resolution as this: "All we want," said Mr. Allen, "is information, if it be true, that the South African Republic has sent representatives here and they have not been received, we ought to know why they have not been received."

Mr. Spooner began to read a piece of paper intended to call upon the secretary of state and a member upon the Senate to ask for the transmission of confidential information for which the President alone was responsible.

Mr. Allen replied at length to Mr. Spooner.

Sweet's Drug Store an Attractive Place on Friday.

Caldwell Sweet celebrated the 25th successful year of his drug business on Friday, and all day long his store on Main street was thronged with his friends who dropped in to wish him another long period of success. Delicious punch was served to all who called by attractive young women, and everyone was presented with a charming little calendar and an attractive booklet which gave a sketch of the growth of Mr. Sweet's business.

The store was beautifully decorated through the kindness of Adam Secker, the florist. The counters and showcases were lined with palms and ferns and the walls and ceiling were festooned in an attractive manner with laurel. "Sweet's drug store" and "Sweet's corner" are words familiar to all Bangor people from the youngest to the oldest, and it is certain that Mr. Sweet's friends wish him many years of prosperity and success.

DEPUTY SHERIFF STEVENS CAPTURES BOLD THIEF AT LINCOLN.
HE IS NOW SAFE IN JAIL.
AN EXCITING CHASE BEFORE THE MAN WAS RUN DOWN.

Stole Clothing First, Then Tried to Escape With a Stolen Team.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph Stevens arrived in Bangor on the train from Lincoln which reaches this city at 11:30 P. M., bringing with him one Henry Stepp, alias Alfred Stepp, of Lincoln, charged with the theft of a horse and punga from Lewis A. White of that town.

On Thursday night the Maine Central station at Lincoln was forcibly entered and several articles of clothing stolen. The theft was not discovered until Friday morning, when Deputy Stevens was informed of it and went to work on the case. Suspicion pointed to Stepp as the thief, and he evidently found that the town was not hot for him. On Friday he decided that he wanted to escape and to that end coolly appropriated a horse and punga belonging to Mr. White as it was standing in front of his door on the main street of the town.

Stepp or Staps drove away rapidly, but Deputy Stevens was on his trail and he had not gone far when the officer was after him. Then a hot chase began. Stepp turned his horse into a pasture lot and tried to get away through the woods. Deputy Stevens turned into the pasture also, and before many minutes overtook the man. The deputy told him to give himself up peacefully, but Stepp thought he knew his own business better so they had it out there in the snow and the officer conquered. It was a hot fight, but the hand of the law is strong so on Friday night Stepp was safely locked up in the county jail to await trial at the February term of court.

There seems to be no doubt of the fact that Stepp is the person who broke into the station, because one of the coats which were stolen was on the man's back when he was captured. Stepp had in his possession several letters, a small bottle of chloroform and another vital. The man is (German) and one of the letters bore the stamp of the German consulate in New York. This letter was addressed Alfred Staps.

DEATH OF MRS. J. W. STEWART.

East Machias, Me., Jan. 19. On Wednesday, the 17th Mrs. Tryphosa A. wife of Capt. Jacob W. Stewart, of Machiasport, passed away in the 62d year of her age, finding thus the blessed and only relief from the physical infirmities from which she has been suffering during the few last years of her life.

Mrs. Stewart for the most part of her life was possessed of sound and vigorous health, and a character of great energy and activity, and was highly esteemed for her many excellent qualities of mind and heart. While her supreme interest lay in her own family circle, where all the duties of wife and mother were faithfully performed, and in which she was especially happy in the devoted love of her children in a wide circle of heart and hand were always open to help the poor and needy and her skill and readiness in watching with and ministering to the sick and gratefully remembered. Which offices of kindness to friends and neighbors were always more as a pleasure than a duty cheerfully rendered and in her last few years so sorrowful and clouded the succeeding care and devotion of the children left nothing undone that could lighten her burden or minister to her comfort.

Mrs. Stewart leaves a husband and two children, Morrill S. and Kittle N. Pope who are comforted in the thought that their loss is her greatest gain.

WHEN EGGS ARE SCARCE.
At this season of the year when it is difficult to secure fresh eggs and the price is so very high, the wise and prudent housekeeper will make fewer desserts with eggs than she would at other seasons. Eggs are scarce and such cakes when eggs are largely used, and use eggs as a substitute for meat or fish. There are so nutritious a food that is not extravagant to use them. It is not in this way, but we may be sparing of them elsewhere.

It is astonishing when we look over our books of recipes to find how omnivorous the egg is in them, there are so comparatively few dishes where they do not figure, and it is a real problem to the housekeeper to know how to dispense with them largely and still have variety in her menus.

Below we give a few recipes which may help a little by giving a suggestion or two to the much tried housekeeper.

COFFEE WITHOUT EGGS.
Those who are in the habit of setting their coffee with the white of egg or with a crushed egg shell, will find a substitute in a tiny pinch of salt which is added to the coffee grounds. Pour the desired amount of boiling water over this salt, three minutes, set on the back of the range, pour in one-half cupful of cold water and leave for five or ten minutes. Be careful not to shake up the coffee much in serving it, it becomes cloudy easily.

AN ESPECIALLY DELICIOUS COFFEE.
Is made from cold water.
Allow a tablespoonful of ground coffee to each cupful of cold water. Put the required amount into the coffee pot, let it stand all night. In the morning bring quickly to a boil a few minutes and serve at once. It requires no straining, and will have an especially fine flavor. When milk is served with coffee always have it scalded. Then the coffee is not cooled and the flavor is far richer than when the uncooked milk is used.

BREAKFAST BREADS WITHOUT EGGS.
For these we have our standard baking powder biscuit. These may be served plain, cut in tiny rounds, and two rounds placed together, thus making the twin biscuits, or made into the pin-wheel rolls mentioned last week, will give variety.

Graham or entire wheat biscuit may be made like those from white flour. In using these flours it is wise to use a little more baking powder than would be necessary for white flour, as the large amount of gluten in the former makes the dough a little less tender than the ordinary bolted flour.

Baking powder muffins may be made just like the biscuit, only adding enough more milk to make a rather soft dough still enough to drop from the spoon. Bake in hot, well greased tin pans until well browned.

A good recipe for an eggless graham muffin is as follows:
GRAHAM OR WHOLEWHEAT MUFFINS.
One cupful of graham flour (sifted).

"ETHER FOR TORPEDOES."

London, Jan. 19. Lieut. Commander J. C. Colwell, U. S. naval attaché in London, witnessed Thursday at Yoevil the test of an invention offered to the United States government for steering torpedoes and submarine craft, by means of a wireless electrical device, on the lines of the Marconi system. The invention, however, is in no way connected with Signor Marconi. The patents are held by Cecil Varley, an English inventor, an employee of A. C. Higgs, U. S. consular agent at Weymouth.

The experiments left no doubt that craft can be directed by means of an ether wave, the model being controlled by a shore motor, with no other connection save the current working upon the rudder. The inventor claims that this can be applied to torpedoes and submarine craft.

At last becoming quite inadequate for the growing society, Rev. D. H. Fernald took measures to secure a better church, which has culminated in the present beautiful and spacious edifice. Great credit is due Chas. M. Sawyer, cashier of Dexter National

OUR PARIS FASHION LETTER

PARIS, Jan. 6.—The fashionable, Mrs. Anna Lee, the beautiful and famous, who is usually one of the first to go to Paris for a winter climate during the colder months, has been plunged into mourning owing to the death of her husband's brother, the Austin Lee, who is the leader in the smart English and American circles, and Mrs. Lee's retirement from active entertaining for some time will be a social calamity. Mrs. Lee by the way is the lady who is alleged to have aroused the jealousy of the Countess Anna Gould Castiglione, owing to the admiration of the count for the beautiful English woman. It even led, it was reported, to the countess withdrawing her invitation to Mrs. Lee while the latter was one of a such big party on the Castiglione ranch, a fact that has not added to the Countess's popularity in Paris, where Mrs. Lee is very much admired and liked, for every one laughed at the idea of beautiful, statuesque Mrs. Lee, with her handsome husband and all guests at her feet, bestowing even a thought on the little Count Boni.

One cannot but notice the lack of rustle in the modish skirts. It used to be that my lady swished around a corner with a subtle, what a puff, the sparrows scurrying skyward. The cost of a gown once was judged by the rustle it sang as it swept over the stones. Now it is different. Silently as a mouse the soft robe must creep over the ground. It is to be luxurious, the skirt must be lined with satin or moire, but woe to the dressmaker that infuses the suspicion of a rustle into her gowns. Rustling linings are no longer in good taste and stamp the woman who uses them as being out of date.

Bangs are growing longer, so much so that it seems to promise to be a season of bangs. The hair is very becomingly turned up at the temples. This raises it considerably from the face. It is then twisted into a graceful coil behind, the little fringe of short hairs about the face being curled over the forehead in a style very becoming for most faces.

Frames are much used this season for imparting an appearance of luxuriance to heads that nature has blessed with but scanty locks. As there is danger of the strands of hair falling apart, and showing the frame underneath, the use of woman usually has it covered with hair of the color and quality of her own. The pompadour frames are fash on the front of the head, and the natural hair is turned back over it in band waves.

Waved hair is still very fashionable, and there is good reason for this. Waves show to advantage the lights in naturally colored hair and the softness in hair of charming quality. The use of the fringe, too, is commendable, as it softens faces which otherwise are harsh in expression.

For blond heads the twist that resembles the figure eight is much liked, especially when the hair is abundant. It gives a graceful contour to otherwise unshapely heads. Women who are tall should avoid having the hair dressed high and surmounted by a tall comb. Very few faces look well with the hair parted in the middle and drawn over the ears, and the style has been abandoned except by a few eccentric types. Those who patronize the Maiton Auguste Petit long ago abandoned it. Parted hair is very much out of fashion if one may except side parts, which are worn by some very young women who have ample, plump faces. The hair is allowed to come down loosely over the forehead on one side, is parted at the left side and finished with a coquettish little curl on the forehead.

For those whose locks are rather scanty a good plan is to have the hair drawn very high in the back, waved and dressed on the top of the head. The reason for this is that narrow faces should avoid high dressed hair; it serves to emphasize the length of the countenance. When the hair is turned up plenty of pretty side combs and slides are needed to keep the short strands in place. Pretty hair, well dressed, is so essential a part of the toilet of a fashionable woman that it is no wonder that every effort is made to keep the locks in good condition.

The fact that the Princess of Wales wears a false front has made many women where false hair is scanty resort to the same device. The princess is said to possess two false fronts, one of which is taken off at night and discarded to the hairdresser. In the morning she dons another front, which is removed at night and in turn sent to the hairdresser for cleaning and curling when the silver front is returned. Of course, the hair is of the very best quality, and the fronts are made with a skill that renders it impossible for any one to know that they are not the wearer's natural locks and their brushed and shaken out.

To keep the waves in good condition take short lengths of narrow tape, and when the hair is wet from brushing run this over it where the depressions appear. In this tape of intervals stick pins that will hold the hair close to the head. Treat each wave in the same way and let the tapes remain on until the hair is dry. Should the arrangement of the fringe become open to criticism, it may be made to look fresh and artistic by curling each strand separately and pinning it to the head of the dummy. After that the hair should be put in a slightly warm oven and left there all night to dry.

Pretty combs of tortoise shell set with artificial gems make the simplest ornaments for the hair, if one may except natural flowers which and again we have much worn. One of the most striking coiffures which I have seen for some time was displayed at the opera, where a stately woman in black velvet, with each day, a false head or "dummy" should be bought and the hair pinned on this for cleaning. A hard toothbrush is the best thing to scrub with. ### HOW TO HANG PICTURES.

By hanging pictures low you increase the apparent height of the room. Ceilings should not be hung in hallways or on staircases unless there is plenty of light for them. In such places strong photographs, engravings and drawings in black and white go best.

A picture should not be hung from one nail; the diagonal lines formed by the cord have a very disconcerting effect. Two nails and two vertical cords, or what is far more safe, pieces of wire or cord, should be used instead of the single cord.

Picture cords should be as near the color of the wall upon which they are put as possible, so that they may be but little seen. When one picture is a stick of celery, a small bunch of parsley and a pinch of dried mixed herbs. Cover the pan and let the contents simmer for 20 minutes. Then add three pints of weak stock in the vegetables and salt, black pepper, a dust of cayenne, a small blade of mace and half a teaspoonful of powdered sugar. When the stock has boiled, draw the pan to the side of the stove and leave the vegetables to cook slowly until they are quite tender.

Strain off the soup and rub the vegetables through a sieve. Put an ounce of butter into a clean stewpan with an ounce of flour and work the ingredients with a wooden spoon over the fire until they form a thick paste, taking care that they do not burn. Then add by degrees the soup, stirring all the time, and continue to stir until it has boiled and thickened. Thicken and the vegetable purée. Ascertain whether there is sufficient seasoning, and as soon as the soup is hot send it to table, accompanied by sippets of fried bread.

The American girls who cross the ocean, with all the expensive conveniences of one of the great liners, avoid meat by being served with their meals on chicken. Their own comfort is the only thing that counts. They are served with a small plate of meat, a silver plate, quite large and fashioned into six compartments by radiating spokes. It is easy to hold this in the lap and the viands remain separate instead of tumbling together as half a dozen plates would with the rising, falling or plunging motion of the vessel. It is a very convenient, particularly well adapted for quick service of viands or conversants.

Apparently suggested by this convenience of transatlantic travel is the new dish just put on the market. The "china monster" has four compartments, which will hold four vegetables. The idea is to serve the vegetables quickly, so they can be helped before the meat gets cold upon the plate. Where the family is large and the waitress is necessarily slow around the table, the new dish will prove useful.

A good tapioca pudding is so good it is so often merely a mass of gummy stuff which is far from tempting. Take a teaspoonful of tapioca and soak in water for two hours, allowing just enough water to cover and adding more when that is absorbed. Pour into this a quart of milk and boil in a double saucepan until soft, then stir in the yolks of three eggs and a pinch of salt. Stir to taste with lemon. Remove from the fire and leave until cold; spread a thin layer of raspberry preserve over the top and on it the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Brown slightly in the oven and serve.

Put two ounces of clarified butter dripping into a stewpan, and when it is melted add a small slice of bacon, two small onions, a carrot, a turnip, three quarters of a pound of the finest tomatoes (the vegetable which is called a tomato), and a little salt. Cook for half an hour, then strain through a cloth and add a little sugar and a dash of vinegar. Put into a bowl and serve.

One pound of baker's bread cut in slices and placed in a deep dish, one-half cup of butter (spread each slice with the butter), one cup of raisins, one cup of milk put one-half cup of sugar, two-thirds cup of molasses, three eggs well beaten, small teaspoonful of vanilla, pinch of cassia, nutmeg and salt. Turn this mixture over the bread, steam two hours and a half. Sauce—Cream one-quarter cup of butter with two cups powdered sugar; flavor with vanilla.

A black panne gown with real fur trim in the skirt on the hips is one of the latest fashions. The skirt is made of a material which is called a "black panne" and is trimmed with real fur. Two cups of butter, two cups of sugar, ten eggs, half teaspoonful of baking powder, one and a half pints of flour. Rub the butter and sugar to a cream, add the flour and mix to a smooth, medium batter. Bake very carefully in a rather small, paper lined tin in a moderate oven 35 to 40 minutes.

skirt touched with electric blue satin trimmings, were three jacinth roses nodding in a cluster at the back of her head. The flowers were duplicated on the corsage, for there is now nothing more chit for the hair and for the ornaments of the bodice than the flowers, real or good imitations. Bands of twisted velvet, with a bow in front, finished by a chignon or jeweled pin, are also considered very stylish.

While on the topic of heads I may as well mention that hats are becoming more and more elaborate. Every tint imaginable is combined in the smart hats, the most brilliant colors being favored. The hats are trimmed with feathers, plaited and fringed chiffon bows and cloches of the same. Wings, plumes and aigrets are also used, but seldom entire birds. Germanium red velvet, tangerine, magenta and violet are some favorite colors. Satin must favor the white hats such have their special admirers, the picture style being perhaps the most becoming to youthful faces.

Little crested platts are taking the place of the straight and stiff styles which have been so popular. These platts are made to describe all sorts of intricate patterns, just as the straight and stiff styles, and the effect is at once novel and pleasing.

Let any girl try to keep her hair stays as soft and light as possible, and then see if her figure be not as graceful in shape and as elastic as the most graceful and slender French figure. No tight, straight down, seven years old ever make a pretty figure.

If the corset cannot be made expressly to suit the figure, then let it be made in the middle of the waist. Even then no real corset should be worn by girls until they are well on their teens. Remember, the softer the corset is the easier it will be, and the lighter it may be used at the least without looking uncomfortable. This is the only way to mold the figure, as it is said, without injuring the health.

Up to Date Paris. New is the trend in producing the costume. One of our great-grandfathers' days, four or five years ago, painted flannels with floral designs, and the shepherd's pipe and daisy on them, and the back is generally covered with a little figured paper that fits our artistic sense with horror. Now, the less they are the better thing to carry about with one at present. And Paris are the possessors of some with histories or if they are painted with some famous artist, such as Watteau, Flourens, etc. Some times stamped silk is to be seen, but these are such precious possessions as the painted flannel.

Many ladies are wearing their hair parted a little to the side, slightly waved, and a low soft crown, styled in the forehead on one side only, leaving the hair down with the wave, and the hair loosely on either side, which it takes over in an artistic fashion, but which needs to be pretty to be worn.

BEAUTIFYING THE HOUSE FOR A SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT.

There are the households in which there are few more or less decorations on the walls for the purpose of entertaining friends. If one could be situated, especially in the winter, there have been a few years when it has been harder to meet the demand for festivity and beauty.

ing made to cover the stems. In cases where clusters of flowers are put on the frame and are wound around the stems to conceal them.

Fairy lamps are used effectively with some decorations. A lamp shaped one of red porcelain provided with a circular flower design, and the lights in the lamp are colored to match the design. The use of the lamp is to be seen in the decoration of the house.

For a party dinner or luncheon table three small silver flags on gilded stands may be draped at the back of or in the center of a deep bowl of roses, anemones and other flowers chosen to harmonize with the color of the flags. An English, American and German flag combined may represent the great triple alliance, should there be American, English and German guests present. The flags should always represent the nationality of the guests. If all those invited are Americans, the several flags, such as the star-spangled banner, the Union Jack and similar flags, may be combined. Should there be a guest of honor who is connected with the navy, the naval flags should be used in miniature. If any one connected with the army is present, the army corps flag should be represented.

A good box for walls where prints or photographs are to be hung is a rich yellow brown, or a leather color. Luster to the black of the print or the tone of the photograph is thus impressed.

The wall paper should have no strongly defined pattern and should be of uniform color, such as red, blue, green or cream.

In regard to this question, it seems to be that Mr. Dick's reply to David Copperfield's contemptuous comment upon the new looking, that there wasn't "room to swing a cat," might be as far as the club woman generally concerned, be very aptly applied: "Why David, nobody wants to swing a cat."

For twenty-five years Mrs. Livermore has been the most conspicuous of women orators on the lecture platform.

The two highest paid women in the government employ are translators of French and Spanish, and each receive $400 a year.

Not less than 4,000,000 women in this country "earn their own bread." Of this number 250,000 are teachers, exclusively; 35,000 teachers of music; 10,000 artists; 1,145 are clergymen, 888 are journalists, 2,725 are authors, and literary persons, 208 are lawyers, 279 are architects, 19 are trappers and 40 are economists, while most of the successful agents belong to the same sex. There are many skilled women inventors, with handsome incomes; and, as the intelligence of the world grows and prejudice disappears, there is no reason to believe that the door will be so long closed to woman's successful employment and enlarged her possibilities.

PERMANENTLY CURED

HYOVEI
 Through It Alone Has the Complete Eradication of These Diseases Been Made Possible.
NO OTHER CAN BE INHALED.
 It Destroys the Germs at Once. The Only Possible
 Method of Effecting a Perfect Cure.

That Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pneumonia and Consumption are germs diseases cannot be denied, but these germs lodge in the minutest air cells of the head, throat and lungs, where they cannot be reached by any liquid germicide is an acknowledged fact; that Catarrh has no connection with the lungs, the lungs being the only tubes known by every child who attends our public schools, and although strong tonics and blood purifiers may prolong life, the germs of disease remain, and sooner or later accomplish their deadly work. Consumption, however, may be cured, and Catarrh only relieved for a time, simply because there was no germicide known which could be inhaled in the air we breathe, the only way of doing all this was suggested by the late Dr. J. C. McLean.

The discovery of Hyomei in 1904 was the most important one ever made in the history of medicine. It has proven to be a perfect oxygenizer and disinfectant, and for the first time in the history of medicine began the number of deaths reported from these diseases to show a decrease instead of an increase over the preceding year, and a decrease (30 per cent.) in the number of deaths from Catarrh. Hyomei is universally used by the people (New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio). Nineteen tenths of all the cases of Consumption, here their beginning in lungs, Catarrh, nose and throat. With the use of Hyomei these diseases are cured.

If you are suffering from a Cough, Cold, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis or Consumption we will give you a written guarantee to cure if it cures.

Monday afternoon at the Calais riding Park, a good sized crowd witnessed a year old, owned by George Downes and John Thompson. The former is a mahogany bay while the latter is a bright bay colt. They were driven by Charles and John Morrarty, respectively. The first heat resulted in the stallion's being the pole and leading all the way to the flat. The second and third heat resulted in the first, both in time and position. In the third, however, Downes took a brace and won out, time given. The day was a success for the Thompson horse, the being 1:31 1/2. Between the halves came two speedy dashes of half a partion, the winner being the one of the Jimmy Haley's Jack Bowan, one of the Second heat, Jack Bowan; the first, resulting as follows:—
1st, Jimmy; 2nd, Jack Bowan; 3rd, the Second heat.

With Jack Bowen, again second, and Wilkes in the rear. All three were driven by their owners, and were the best afternoon's sport since as soon as the gates were opened the track, and promises of good racing during the rest of the day.

RAILROADS

Monday afternoon at the Calais riding Park, a good sized crowd witnessed a year old, owned by George Downes and John Thompson. The former is a mahogany bay while the latter is a bright bay colt. They were driven by Charles and John Morrarty, respectively. The first heat resulted in the stallion's being the pole and leading all the way to the flat. The second and third heat resulted in the first, both in time and position. In the third, however, Downes took a brace and won out, time given. The day was a success for the Thompson horse, the being 1:31 1/2. Between the halves came two speedy dashes of half a partion, the winner being the one of the Jimmy Haley's Jack Bowan, one of the Second heat, Jack Bowan; the first, resulting as follows:—
1st, Jimmy; 2nd, Jack Bowan; 3rd, the Second heat.

With Jack Bowen, again second, Bill Wilkes in the rear. All three were driven by their owners, who as it was being such a sport season has been witnessed since the opening of the track, and promises well for good racing during the rest of the fall.

The pirates of the sea of Whatshould-be-a-pleasure-through-the-night becomes a fear-struggle against hideous foes, are the common symptoms of disease, the stomach and organs of digestion and assimilation are in a diseased condition the sleep is only broken and disturbed. To get well is the necessity to "heal," Nature's wisdom is to take up the ravaged sleeve of nature, the results of the use of Dr. Fildon Medical Discovery is successful after 20-40 years' experience and many thousands of cures. The blood, thus removing the cause or germ which is the source of all diseases and ailments, restores optimum health.
